GV
1511
.W6V6

Who will I Marry.
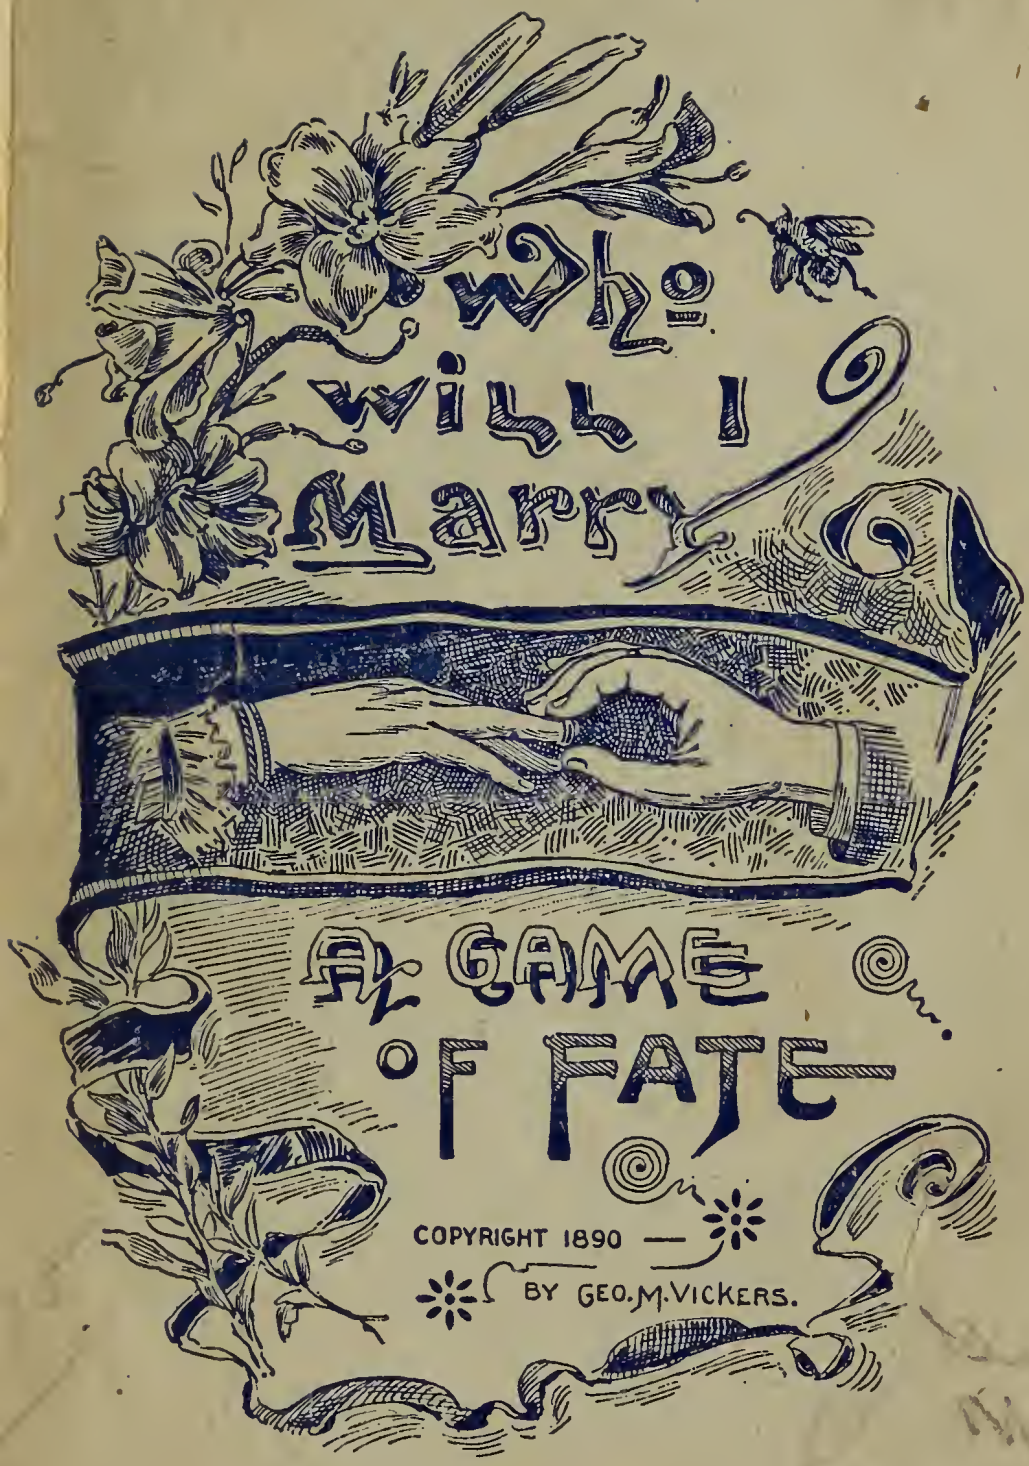
by.
Geo. M. Vickers.

Class GV 1511

Book W6V6



LIBRARY OF CONGRESS,
COPYRIGHT
JUL 25 1890
WASHINGTON.

23037

GV1511
.W6V6

Who Will I Marry ?

DIRECTIONS.

Any number of persons may take part in this game. The questioner selects a number from one to one hundred, but some other person must hold the book and read the reply, after which the book is passed to another, until all have had it in rotation. It is best to sit around a table or in a circle, and pass the book from left to right. Ladies choose odd numbers, and gentlemen even numbers.

LADY'S QUESTION.

If I one day will be a bride,
  Then tell me what my groom will be ;
Oh, tell me true, nor seek to hide ;
  Pray, what will be my destiny ?
  My choice is number———

GENTLEMAN'S QUESTION.

If fate decrees that I shall marry,
  Then who will be my mate for life,
Make answer quick, and do not tarry ;
  Will maid or widow be my wife ?
My choice is number———

1.—Dark eyes and hair, young and ambitious.

2.—A widow with three children; affectionate.

3.—Medium height, clear hazel eyes, brown hair and mustache. Good disposition, but poor.

4.—Frivolous, fair and fat.

5.—An old bachelor with a big bank account; his eyes are blue; iron gray hair; slightly bald—will want to take you abroad.

6.—A decided blonde; light blue eyes, tall and stately, but a regular vixen.

7.—Brave, manly and true; dark eyes and hair: under thirty and rich.

8.—A beautiful lady; a brunette; sweet tempered and true.

9.—Very religious, stingy and jealous; red hair and fishy eyes.

10.—A fine form, a fair face, but a false heart.

11.—Tall and handsome. A gay deceiver.

12.—Medium height; gray eyes; loyal, kind.

13.—Your husband will be selfish, suspicious and wicked. He will inherit enormous riches, which he will be careful to keep.

14.—Your bride will be fat, disagreeable and cross-eyed.

15.—A titled foreigner.

16.—A fussy little old maid, yellow cork-screw curls, watery eyes; very fond of books, cats and parrots.

17.—Of average height, slightly built, dark hair and eyes. An affectionate, good man, poor, but able to earn a comfortable living.

18.—Small, thin and cynical.

19.—Talented, handsome and rich; he will love you devotedly, and be loyal until death.

20.—Rather tall, sallow complexion; nervous, foreign born.

21.—Handsome, fickle, vain.

22.—Very beautiful; affectionate, truthful; a perfect gem.

23.—Your choice will have a title; he will be much sought after, but will prove loving and faithful to you.

24.—Medium height, dark hair, hazel eyes, sweet tempered.

25.—Good natured, honest, true.

26.—Dark gray eyes, brown hair, rather tall; sweet disposition, true as steel.

27.—Tall, angular, cross-eyed and bald-headed.

28.—Small, skinny, and spiteful.

29.—A foreigner; very rich, but terribly jealous.

30.—Tall, dark, melancholy.

31.—Imprudent, hasty, stubborn.

32.—Auburn hair, brown eyes, fair complexion. Industrious.

33.—Middle aged, good tempered; a widower.

34. — A flaxen-haired, blue-eyed daughter of the Rhine.

35.—Handsome, talented, but poor.

36.—Your wife will be homely, suspicious and hot-headed.

37.—Your husband will be a Blue-beard, having buried five wives; but you will outlive him.

38.—A true woman, a wife that a king might give his crown to win.

39.—Slightly built, hazel eyes, dark hair, affectionate.

40.—Yellow hair, pug nosed and cross-eyed.

41.—Sandy complexion, red mustache, very stout; eyes blue and small.

42.—A charming girl, sensible, sweet and fair.

43.—Six feet in his stockings, chestnut hair, hazel eyes; manly and true.

44.—A gay coquette.

45.—Idle, fault-finding, hard to please.

46.—Cold and cynical.

47.—So short and fat that he cannot see his own feet without using a looking-glass.

48 —A small woman with an enormous appetite.

49.—A gentleman of distinction, wealthy and not very old.

50.—Superb figure, blonde, medium height ; very fond of music.

51.—Irritable, sarcastic ; full beard. No time for kisses ; his sole pleasure is cash.

52.—A whole-souled, loving creature ; if you only earn a dollar over expenses, you will be rich in the happiness she will give you.

53.—Handsome and poor.

54.—Large dark eyes, a sweet face, very loving, but inclined to be melancholy.

55.—Red hair and whiskers; very jealous, and fond of his cup.

56.—A widow, with eight small children.

57.—A light haired, blue eyed man ; he will be delicate, rich and indulgent.

58.—A large lady ; will tip the scales at 270 lbs. ; very mild, and a graceful dancer.

59.—A soldier ; middle aged ; medium circumstances.

60.—Thin, and pointed nose. She will prove to be a good wife, however.

61.—A retired merchant ; bachelor.

62.—Fair, but only fair. She will give you trouble.

63.—Two matches stuck in a potato will convey a good idea of your future destiny's form.

64.—Your wife will be a source of constant joy to you, and she will be more beautiful in spirit than in looks.

65.—Tall, graceful, well educated. He will be all any woman could wish.

66.—You will often wish you had not married; your wife will be muscular, and more than once give you a thrashing.

67.—Small, dark hair and eyes, very witty, and kind.

68.—A maiden lady, high up in her thirties, but sensible.

69.—A country youth, rather stout; he will inherit a valuable farm.

70.—A poor girl, but she will be a prize.

71.—You will marry a sea captain.

72.—Rosy cheeks and laughing eyes.

73.—Jet black hair and eyes; a good man, but inclined to be suspicious.

74.—A lovely singer; hazel eyes, brown hair, affectionate.

75.—A poor author, whose only wealth is his good heart.

76.—A wealthy orphan.

77.—A physician of note.

78.—Your wife will be a beauty, not only in appearance, but in disposition as well.

79.—Short, thick, and obstinate. You will often wonder why you married him.

80.—Dark, sallow, and discontented.

81.—A noble fellow, ever ready to serve a friend, ever ready to give his life for you.

82.—Blue eyes, flaxen hair, lively.

83.—Your husband's feet will cover a clever space, but his big heart will be quite in proportion.

84.—She will be gentle, fair and generous.

85.—A merchant; a good provider.

86.—Pretty, but such a fault finder that you will regret your marriage.

87.—A politician, very seldom home.

88.—A woman much older than you are; she will make you obey her, too.

89.—Dark curly hair, brown eyes, medium height.

90.—A rich widow; she will leave you her fortune.

91.—Your husband will never cause you sorrow. Light hair; gray eyes.

92.—A shrew. Your lot will be hard.

93.— An artist; tall, affectionate.

94.—Always neat, small and sweet,

95.—Your husband will be tall, broad shouldered and sandy complexioned.

96.—Few men are blest with so pure and true a wife as yours will be.

97.—A little, skinny, conceited fellow.

98.—A woman of queenly form and mien; she will love you and make your life happy.

99.—A rich banker; he will take you abroad.

100.—A sweet, golden-haired, blue-eyed girl will be your bride.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
0 042 002 257 8